SUSTAINABILITY

At SG, we believe that we have a responsibility to our planet and its people, and it is our duty to make sure that our sourcing and manufacturing are corporately responsible.

SHARED VALUES WITH OUR SUPPLIERS

Each one of our products is developed in partnership with selected quality suppliers who share our values of care for the planet and its people.

FAIR WORKING CONDITIONS

Our Code of Conduct, which all our suppliers must sign-up to and honour, is designed to ensure fair working conditions, including no child labour or forced employment. We encourage the timely payment of local statutory wages, to make sure the workers who make our products can build a better life.

SAFETY AND HEALTH PROTECTION

We also fight for a strict observance of safety and health protection at the workplace within the extent of the national regulations, and support continuous further development to improve working environments.

SUSTAINABLE FABRICS

SG is also aware of the pressures on our planet, and that's why we are increasingly including sustainable fabrics in more and more of the styles within our collections.

We are still at the start of our journey, and we are committed to the progressive development of our sustainable credentials.

OEKO TEX 100

One of the world's best-known labels for textiles tested for harmful substances. When our styles carry this label, you can be sure that every component of the article (every thread and accessory) has been tested and is, therefore, harmless for human health.

OEKO TEX STEP

Stands for Sustainable Textile & Leather Production. The goal of STeP is to implement environmentally friendly production processes in the long term, to improve health and safety and to promote socially responsible working conditions at production sites.

OCS 100 & OCS BLENDED

These are owned and managed by Textile Exchange, a global non-profit working with members on best production and best practices to reduce the textile industry's impact on the world's water, soil, air, and human population.

GRS

GRS stands for Global Recycled Standard and was originally developed in 2008. GRS guarantees the recycled content of products as well as additional social and environmental requirements related to processing and chemical use.

SEDEX

With 16 years of expertise, Sedex is one of the world's leading ethical trade membership organisation (over 60.000 members in more than 180 countries), working with businesses to improve working conditions in global supply chains. Sedex enables businesses to work together to better manage their social and environmental performance and improve working conditions throughout the supply chain.

WRAP

WRAP is an independent, objective, non-profit team of global social compliance experts dedicated to promoting safe, lawful, humane, and ethical manufacturing around the world through certification and education. Their goal is to ensure that production facilities operate in a safe, responsible, and ethical way. Through their 12 principles, they promote lawful, humane manufacturing in facilities throughout the world via Certification and Training programs. WRAP only certifies individual facilities, not brands or ownership groups, which means that each WRAP-certified facility has undergone a thorough inspection by a WRAP auditor and is subject to unannounced follow-up inspections.

BSCI

Created in 2003, is an initiative led by companies committed to improving working conditions in the international supply chains. This system is based on 3 pillars such as independent audits of working conditions in factories; the organisation of training and workshops; and dialogues with other parties involved, such as governments or trade unions. Its Code of Conduct covers social responsibility policies, working hours, non-discrimination, prohibition of child labour and forced labour, payment of a minimum wage, measures for health protection and safety at the workplace and protection of the environment.

DESTINED TO BE DECORATED

Many of our styles are destined to be decorated, whether it be with bold and bright graphics, intricate logos or fine embroidery. That is why we pay particular attention to the fabrics we use to make sure they will consistently offer the best surface for decoration.

For print, this means a clean and smooth surface which will give the finest result in terms of details and colours. We select fabrics with special care which will absorb inks to make the decoration durable. We only use fabrics which will deliver the best printability and the most intricate embroidery. Decoration techniques are constantly evolving. We make sure that our products are also developed to allow the use of new techniques and technologies.

All our products are sold unprinted.

SCREEN PRINTING

The perfect solution for printing images or graphic models on different textile items such as T-shirts, Sweats & Hoodies, Jackets and Bags. Recommended for designs from 1 colour, for example, logos, phrases & simple graphic designs. This printing technique, because of the quality-to-price ratio, is recommended for large print runs.

HEAT TRANSFER

The design is transferred from pre-printed paper onto the fabric by contact heat which causes the dye to sublime. Having no affinity for paper, the dyes are taken up by the fabric. The method can produce well-defined, clear prints. Heat transfers can be single or multi-colour, and heat applies in seconds to any number of items, such as Bags, T-shirts and Sweatshirts.

EMBROIDERY

Ornamental designs are worked onto fabric using a needle. Embroidery may be done either by hand or by machine. Nowadays, embroidery is usually seen on Polos, Sweatshirts and Jackets (also using embroidered patches).

SCREEN PRINTING (WITH PUFF INK)

Puff ink is an under-utilised way of creating a unique and 3-dimensional aspect to your print. The process is the same as screen printing, the only difference is that the ink used will raise up after heating, giving depth to the print by looking "puffy". Puff screen printing will create an eye-catching design to make you stand out from the crowd.

DTG (DIRECT TO GARMENT)

A process wherein the colours for the desired designs are applied directly to the white or dyed cloth using specialised aqueous inkjet technology, as distinguished from discharge printing. In general, 100% cotton is best, but you can go down to 50% cotton and still get good results. Combed and ringpun cotton fabric deliver the best results for DTG printing.

DISCHARGE PRINTING

In "white" discharge printing, the fabric is piece dyed, then printed with a paste containing a chemical that reduces the dye and hence removes the colour where the white designs are desired. In "coloured" discharge printing, a colour is added to the discharge paste to replace the discharged colour with another shade. Not all fabrics are suitable for discharge printing. It is better to test the clothes in advance. Only cellulosic fibers like cotton can be printed with discharge inks. Blended fabrics, however, can create a nice vintage look where the polyester fibers don't discharge.
